

Blended Amaretto Iced Coffe

Makes 1 serving

If you're looking for a blended, boozy drink that's more dessert than coffee, try this sweet treat from the Toddy folks.

6 ounces cold-brewed coffee concentrate (see recipe)

1/2 ounce Amaretto

1/2 ounce Kahlua

1 scoop chocolate ice cream

Whipped cream, for garnish (optional)

Instructions: Add coffee, Amaretto, Kahlua, ice cream and two ounces of water in a blender and mix until frothy. Pour into a tall glass; top with whipped cream, if desired.

Vietnamese-Style Iced Coffee

Makes 1 serving

Traditional Vietnamese iced coffee — ca phe sua da — is made by setting individual coffee makers over glasses filled with ice and condensed milk, with the hot espresso dripping down and melting the ice. This recipe, using cold-brewed coffee concentrate, is a quick-and-dirty version that doesn't require anything fancy. Make sure to use condensed milk, not evaporated milk.

4 ounces cold-brewed coffee concentrate (see recipe)

3 tablespoons condensed milk

Instructions: Fill a cocktail shaker with ice. Add coffee concentrate and condensed milk. Shake until ingredients are well-combined and pour into tall glass to serve.
