Mustard seeds jazz up Cheddar crackers with a piquant crunch; fried tortillas and avocado chunks add to the complexity of a rich pork-hominy stew.

► Butter 1 side of each bread slice. Cut out 1 round per slice from 8 slices using cutter (discard scraps). Cut off and discard crusts from remaining 6 slices (forming roughly 3-inch squares). Cut each square into thirds (1 inch wide), then halve crosswise to form 6 (1½- by 1-inch) rectangles. Put 1 round, buttered side down, in bottom of each ramekin. Line side of each ramekin with 9 rectangles, arranging rectangles vertically, with buttered sides against ramekin, and overlapping slightly. Press rectangles gently to help adhere (edges should be flush with rims). Divide apple mixture evenly among ramekins, pressing gently to pack against bread lining. Top with remaining 4 rounds, buttered sides up. Place a sheet of plastic wrap on top of buttered rounds and gently press rounds flush with edges of rectangles. ► Remove plastic wrap and bake charlottes in ramekins on a baking sheet until golden, about 25 minutes. Wearing an oven mitt, carefully invert hot charlottes onto plates. Spoon chilled crème anglaise over and around them.

COOKS' NOTE: Charlottes can be assembled (but not baked) 4 hours ahead and chilled, ramekins wrapped well in plastic wrap.

1 lb sharp Cheddar, coarsely grated (preferably in a food processor; 5 cups)
1 large egg yolk
¼ teaspoon Dijon mustard
2 tablespoons dry mustard
¼ cup brown or yellow mustard seeds

Transfer dough (it will be very soft) to a bowl and chill, covered, 15 minutes. ► Halve dough, then shape each half into a 12-inch log on a lightly floured surface. Wrap logs in wax paper and foil, then chill until firm, at least 4 hours. ► Put oven racks in upper and lower thirds of oven and preheat oven to 350°F. Line 2 large baking sheets with parchment paper. ► Unwrap logs and cut into ½-inch-thick slices with a sharp thin knife, then arrange slices about 1 inch apart on baking sheets. Bake in batches, switching position of sheets halfway through baking, until pale golden, 12 to 15 minutes. Transfer crackers to racks to cool, about 5 minutes. Line sheets with clean parchment between batches.

COOKS' NOTES: Dough, once formed into logs, can be chilled up to 1 week or frozen 2 months.

• Crackers, cooled completely, keep in an airtight container at room temperature 1 week.
